

Daisy James

Multimedia Producer / Writer / Designer / Engineer
100M+ engaged users across TV, radio, print, and online

Skills

Freelance, end-to-end audio production design. Collaboration with high-profile figures. Independent production, editorial judgment, cross-platform storytelling. Tools include: Pro Tools, Premiere Pro, iZotope RX, OBS, Python, VSCode, CSS, Javascript, HTML + more.

Experience

Producer | iHeartMedia, New York, NY Feb 2022-Present

- Post-production management and design for two award-winning shows.

Writer | The Philadelphia Inquirer, Philadelphia, PA June 2020-Present

- Culture writer for online and print publications.

Sound Engineer | The Recount, New York, NY Aug 2020-May 2021

- Editing and engineering for several shows including Just Something About Her and Hell & High Water.

Producer | SPLC, Montgomery, AL Feb 2019-February 2020

- Assembly, editing, and design under tight-deadlines for Webby Award-nominated investigative series.

Producer | NPR, New York, NY March 2017-Present

- Local news specialist. Gather stories, package, and design for large-scale audiences across multiple platforms.

Editor | VOX Media, Los Angeles, CA Jan 2017-June 2018

- Remote production support for weekly pop-culture shows.

Credits

- 2 International Women's Podcast Awards, 3 Webby Award-nominations.
- Fleisher Arts: Storytelling & Technology Course Instructor.

Recent Project

SUBLUNA: A solo, indie dev APP that synthesizes multiple forms of technology and the esoteric into a single, interactive interface, including reverse geolocation so as the moon moves, so does what you hear.